

Stories

---

A poem
by Rafael Lopez

Stories

by Yenba (a poet from The World Of Eath)

Rafael Lopez

The stars cast their glance
To an unknowing person
A weary wanderer
In need of comfort tonight
He sleeps in the brush of the forest
Leaves that paint the scene
A fine green
Embrace his dreams

The stories of thought
Play out in his drifting mind
For the story of one's heart
Is always sought in dreams
Stories are
The memories of our life
That linger with us
Whilst we sleep in the painted woods
Stories are
The imagination of our mind
Fulfilling our wishes
Or the dreams we let pass by

Stories are
And always will be
The passion of many
Yet the story of only one
One weary wanderer
Sleeping in the forest's embrace
For even as we write stories
To relate to others
In truth
Stories relate
Only to those
Who can relate with the author

Thus stories be told
And stories be shared
But the stories we write
Begin in the hearts of many
With only one
Able to dream them to words

All rights reserved
Copyright © 2012 by Rafael Lopez

More works by Rafael Lopez

Look for the author's poetry collection A World Of Words containing "Stories"!

Follow Our News!